

"Bravery is rare. Tyranny is commonplace. Both define the life of Robert Meeropol, son of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg."

-Publishers Weekly

Meet the author...

ROBERT MEEROPOL

In 1953, when Robert Meeropol was six years old, the United States Government executed his parents for "conspiring to steal the secret of the atomic bomb." Ethel & Julius Rosenberg left behind a legacy that was both a burden and a gift to their younger son. An Execution in the Family: One Son's Journey details Robert Meeropol's poignant odyssey from Rosenberg son to prominent political activist and Executive Director of the Rosenberg Fund for Children in Easthampton, MA.

Reading • Q&A • Book Signing

...a powerful tale of [Meeropol's] lifelong struggle to overcome the fear brought on by our government's legal murder of his parents and to transform it... into a force to build a better world for children. Inspirational. moving... engaging... should be required reading.

- Michael Moore

Tue, November 11th at 7:00 pm

De Anza College, Campus Ctr. Conf. Room B

Sponsored by: South Bay Mobilization and Students for Justice    Info: (408) 998-8504